

Learning to Fly

YOU ARE DEARLY LOVED.

If you were a bird you would not think twice before spreading your wings and flying. The process would have come to you as naturally as being alive. Birds do not fear flying, they just do it. There is much to learn from birds, as you carry wings as well. They are indeed hidden, but nevertheless they are on you and available to you all the time. You are an angel and you are so dearly loved. Like a chick in the nest, you grow; we, your brothers and sisters, are around you from before birth. We follow your every footstep; we love you without pauses and conditions. There is nothing you need to do or give in return. You are loved because you are family and you are part of us. As we look at you from above and below, hugging you, we ask you to open up your heart to the love from the other side. This love heals, as it nurtures. This love we direct to you is the substance we are made of, so we never lack. When you give us your hand we are already with you. Angels are everywhere. There are many of us assigned to each of you, so when you are in a body walking in duality, confused, in fear or pain, there are many of us who are walking with you holding your hands. Your journey is one of wonders. Many of you perceive your life as difficult, challenging, and indeed it can be. You came here to this heavy reality in order to learn that you really are not a human at all. You are an angel with wings and you came here to learn to fly.

Why do I have to come here, some may wish to know?

You come to this planet because this is where angels come to learn about their divinity. When you are with us you already know who you are so there is a different kind of learning. The journey through life takes you to experiences where you must face your limitations, your mortality, your fears. From such a place, you may emerge invincible, fearless and ready to do work—work that you came here to do—being a lighthouse. Angels are made of light and love. Angels can be in many places at the same time. Angels are vessels for energies which can reverse dis-ease and heal the sick. They heal by connecting, through love, with the one who has lost sight of who they are. When an angel shines light on the one in darkness, light takes over and illuminates that which was without light. When you come to this sacred place you call Earth, you are very much connected to the angelic realm because your memory is still intact. Babies come without the ability to talk because if they could they would tell all the secrets you came here to discover. They know it all and slowly they forget, as it is appropriate. When a baby looks at you and smiles she opens a space for you to join the angelic energy. At times she will follow you with her eyes, asking you to connect to the vortex of divinity that is hidden within her sweet gaze. Your journey starts from a place of knowing and ends when you have completed what you came here to learn. To some of you, friends, loved ones, and relatives left too soon, but it is not the life expectancy that determines the length of time you spend in a cycle, but your purpose for coming. Time is meaningless, as you are eternal. The dimension of time is only inserted for your growth and to create a richer environment for experiences. It gives you a context which you can use to understand the larger purpose of the system you named God.

Why do we need to learn about a system that we are a part of, some may question?

Because the larger consciousness you named God wishes to understand itself so it can become one with itself. It is the same with you. You carry within you the same micro purpose as the whole system. As you wish to be one with you, so the system God wishes to become one with itself.

What purpose will that serve, you may ask again?

All universes are birthed by what we call LOVE, which is source creative power that expresses itself through matter in many dimensions and realities. Through you the creative power of the system is being expressed. You carry the same frequency and purpose as the entire universe or system. You are all God messengers carrying, expressing, and delivering its creative power through fragments of energy. When those fragments of energy unite in the awareness of oneness, your mission is then completed, as you create light where light did not exist. It is your purpose and mission to create. When you mix light with light it creates more light, as you cannot distinguish one light photon from the next. They all merge to become one light source. Your purpose is similar. You are made out of light, and by merging your light with lights that are around you, you become one.

Why are you telling us all this, some may wonder?

It's time, is our short answer. With a smile we wish you to fly and experience your reality from a place that is elevated. You have a choice at any given moment in how to look at yourself and at your reality. When you wake up in the morning in gratitude for being alive, asking for the day to take you by the hand and lead you to where you are most luminescent, fulfilling your highest potential, you are in the realm of light emissary"—a full fledge—a full-fledged angel with wings. When you wake up in the morning, wondering why you are here, anxiously awaiting the day to reveal itself in its burdens and drama, you are an angel in training, and we ask you to jump and take flight. There is never a judgment, and most of humanity are angels in training looking for their purpose. Those of you who are on this sacred mission of awakening, creating an energy vortex for peace on Earth to manifest, this is your time.

What is peace on Earth, some of you want to know?

Peace on Earth is the potential for this time. You have moved away from Armageddon, knowing that another choice was peace on Earth. Peace is not a practical political solution to your social and cultural conflicts, but a state of consciousness. You are getting closer to a vibration where the gap separating you from yourself is quickly closing like your hole in the ozone layer. You are approaching a state of awareness that embraces your oneness on a mass scale, holding a united vibration which can open up your dimension to the celebration that is all around you. We have told you many times that we like to party. There is a grand celebration scheduled and you are invited. The party is scheduled soon and your light is needed for this party to happen on time. Our question to you is, why would you want to miss this party?

How can we achieve peace on Earth, some may still ask?

Peace is your natural state, and when enough of you become peaceful, the vibratory rate of Gaia will come to meet this vibration, carrying you to a whole new reality—a reality that we can only describe as blissful or heavenly. It is as if you graduated one grade and moved on to the next. The first grade was one filled with drama, pain, fear, and hurt, as well as love and light. Your learning has the potential to move into a more subtle reality where your learning will evolve around melodic nuances and not ear-deafening explosions. This is what you came here for.

Will this reality be a part of everyone's reality, some may wonder?

Your planet is continuously renewing, and there are many of you who are in one body today and tomorrow they are in another. Like water streaming down a river, it looks as if the water is the same water, when in fact, the water is renewing continuously from the source. When a vibration of peace is powerful enough, a process will begin where those who do not match that vibration will choose to go home so they can refresh and come back more equipped while those who are aligned with this vibration will begin experiencing biological, spiritual, and physiological changes—even on the DNA level. This will affect not only their lifespan but also the physical perception and ability to intuit processes that are taking place around them. These qualities were not enabled since the time of Lemuria—over one hundred thousand years ago.

It is therefore that the two strands of the DNA in the double helix will grow and expand as more strands are activated in the twelve-strand system. From a human you are becoming an angel, or should we call it a galactic human with wings. There are many aspects of your journey that must align with the activation of your twelve strands of DNA, but the most essential component which activates and harmonizes your system rebuilding is—you guessed it—Love.

What kind of Earth will we have once we reach that vibration, some may wonder?

You are in a state of awareness where material wealth is a major concern to many. To others, food and water is their greatest need, and yet to others, feeling safe and secure is their current state of need. When enough reach the frequency of DNA activation through love, a change—slow at first but growing faster and faster—will begin to take place where your physical reality will begin to match your state of awareness.

What does it mean, some may wonder?

It means that the resource distribution, the safety, the abundance will be created from a place of equilibrium and integrity. It is then that the physical feminine vibration will align with Gaia to support life on Earth in a balanced way both within and in the outer physical reality. Your current state of awareness blocks Gaia from finding balance. When enough of you create within this balance, it will activate your dormant cellular memory, directing you towards a reality of the New Earth.

Is it grand enough for you, we ask with a smile?

So many of you knew of this potential and you also knew of the other potential where you looked for a new home in which to settle. You chose to stay on this beautiful blue pearl creating a change for the entire galactic system.

These changes are within your reach. We have promised you that we are always with you. You have promised us that you will wake up when we ring the bell. The bell is now ringing and it is your time to rise, and so be it.
