

Transparency

WHO YOU ARE has little to do with who you think you are. We see you as a vibrant swirling energy which has unique color, geometry and melody. The way you spin and the colors that reflect off of you tell us your story. You carry your experiences as badges and symbols of your life. You are transparent to us and that transparency is what we wish to speak of.

We see you from above and we are around you all the time. There are those of us who are called the “designers.” They work with your geometry and they are technologically savvy. They keep your shape intact so you will vibrate at the frequency of the planet. You see, you have choices. Your biology is built for mastery. You are able to transcend your body if you so wish and to become a light being and transparent. It means that you walk in your biology on the planet but you are not seen by other humans.

How can that be, some may ask? Where does the body disappear to?

You are made of atoms and molecules that are vibrating at a specific frequency which is aligned with earth's frequency. This vibration keeps you visible on the planet and allows you to be a human in lesson. It is part of your agreement. We wish to speak to you about a new attribute that is being enabled as part of the shift of vibration on this planet. We will call it transparency. We wish to tell you that to us you look like a spinning swirl of stars. The space between the stars is vast. Within you there is more empty space than matter. You are energy walking and commanding a biological vehicle that is mostly empty space. When you come to earth you come to a much denser plane than the one you call home. Many of the societies currently occupying systems that are similar to yours exist on much less dense environments. It is so to the extent that your science cannot see them unless they choose to be seen. Many of those who come to visit you at this time are of a lighter consistency. Their molecules are separated and are not bonded together like yours. If they choose to, they can create shapes to their liking using energy. When you look at water in a glass it is transparent yet it is the most valuable substance on your planet. When you look at air, it is transparent yet without it you cannot survive for more than a few minutes. Many of the attributes of spirit are transparent yet they act as the force behind the force. Those transparent attributes are the engine behind the engine. To you, transparency often equates to non-existence. When you do not see something you have a hard time accepting it. Yet, water, air and gravity which are vital to your survival are transparent.

This is different some of you may say. Our science can measure air and water therefore it is physical.

We wish to tell you that all spiritual attributes have a physical aspect. It is true, however, that your modern science has not yet discovered the physical attributes of spiritual essence. Your instruments are not refined enough and often you look in the wrong places. When they finally do find the physical attributes of spiritual essence, they will realize that it is everywhere. Many things that are vital to your survival and are in front of your nose cannot be observed by your modern day technology. Your magnetic properties, which are continuously shifting according to the position of the planets, shape many events in your reality and their outcomes in your daily life, yet you do not see it and cannot measure it. The science of astrology that many of you dismiss as a guessing work or hobby of sorts plays a large part in your daily coming and going and most of you are oblivious to it. The magnetic fields of your planet affects your sleeping patterns, your emotional state, and your ability to receive guidance from other dimensions, or what you call intuition and yet your science does not even have words for it. The web of communication which connects humans with humans through silver cords is not in any of your psychology literature. The ether is teeming with communication and knowledge that is coming from other systems and other dimensions and yet you do not see any of it. Many of the forces which are operating in your daily lives are transparent. When you come back home you are transparent as well. Transparency is an attribute of spirit. When you begin to walk the walk of a spiritual human you must develop that set of eyes that can see that which most of humanity cannot. Those of you who give intention to walk hand in hand with spirit must develop extra-sensory vision. That vision can see in the dark and it can also see the transparent.

Why do we need to see the transparent?, some of you may wonder.

We wish to impart to you that spirit speaks to you through transparency. Transparency is the language by which information is delivered to you and is one of the forces that you cannot see, but it shapes your life. To many, a traumatic event that comes seemingly from nowhere is tagged as “bad luck” or an “accident.” Many of you do not see the transparent threads of karmic settlements which create a shift in your lives. You find reasons for disease, and you find reasons for accidents. You form an investigation to look into why this happened and that happened. Then you find out that the brakes were to blame, or the other vehicle was to blame. We wish to tell you that as you are searching for the mechanics of your life, the real forces that shape your life are not mechanical, they are spirit based. Many of you see yourselves as practical. Many of you read only practical books and do practical things. Many of you eat practical food and do what seems to be practical in your life. Many of you also encounter, all of a sudden and by surprised something that throws you off your practical route. We hug you and we love you regardless of your knowledge or your inclinations. It is however those of you are practical who are most surprised when something “traumatic” seemingly comes “from nowhere” and create a shift in your life. From where we sit on our porch, these are the invisible forces that operate in your life. The transparent energy operates whether you acknowledge it or not. Your universe is made of forces of attraction and gravity. Your parts are connected through an electrical attraction of sorts which is magnetically based.

Why are you telling us this confusing stuff? you may wonder.

We wish to tell you that as you vibrate higher your body becomes less dense. The actual attribute of your physical vehicle is changing to accommodate the new enhanced driver. There are those of us who are working with you so you can become more transparent. They are your facilitators. You have the ability to stay on your planet doing your work in a transparent form. There were masters who walked the planet and shifted their energy from dense human form to light beings who were transparent. As you become transparent, you develop the ability to see those transparent forces which operate around you. When we speak of the enhanced human, we speak of the transparent one. Your society at this time reflects the individual human; and, as there is a split between the light and the dense human, there is a split between the light and dense aspects of your society. This split is between the old energy and the new energy. There is never a judgment, and all of your choices are sacred and honored. You are at a place in time that is shifting very rapidly in comparison to your history; your planet is going through an energy shift where the pull of gravity lessens so slightly. Your body particles respond to even the slightest shift in the magnetic pull of the planet. There are those of you who will begin to align with this new attribute and your light bodies will climb and shift as they follow their paths and activate the pieces and parts of their divinity. There will be those, however, who are the "practical ones." They are loved by spirit the same as the others, but they will encounter a certain attribute that you may call a pattern of coincidences that they will not be able to explain through your logic or science. It is the practical ones who will face a dilemma, whether to force explanations and logic onto events that shape their lives, or move forward and discover the transparent forces that operate their physical reality. We wish to impart to you that light and heavy, dense and transparent are the choices that will face each and every one of you in the near future. We love you and we are always with you waiting for you to give us your hand so we can shine light on your path. We wish to tell you that the transparent forces in your lives will become more powerful and more prevalent as the earth shifts. It is a magnificent sight to see such grand transformation. From the denser human to the lightest human you are all loved equally. However, denser humans will have a more difficult time feeling the threads of love around them as they are continuously challenged to understand the forces that shape their lives. The lighter, less dense human will be more aligned with what happens in their lives. The signs, symbols and messages will come in a form that they can see, feel, and follow because it will match their vibration. There is never a judgment but it is an exciting time to awaken to the transparent forces in your life. It is an exciting time to become transparent yourself. It is the time when all the knowledge you obtain through ages past is available to you, so you can ascend. You are at a place in time that is confusing, and all those things that are dense will be exposed as part of the energy of transparency. There are those who hide in the denser realms of society and use practicality as their weapon. That which is not transparent must be exposed and transformed. You will experience it on all levels of existence whether personal, social, political, or spiritual. We live in a dimension where all is transparent. As the veil becomes thinner you come closer to our reality. We hug you and welcome you. You are your own master in this sacred planet of free choice. We wish you to acknowledge and follow the transparent forces in your life and become one yourself, and so be it.
